Dear Parents, Faculty, and Friends of P. K. Yonge,

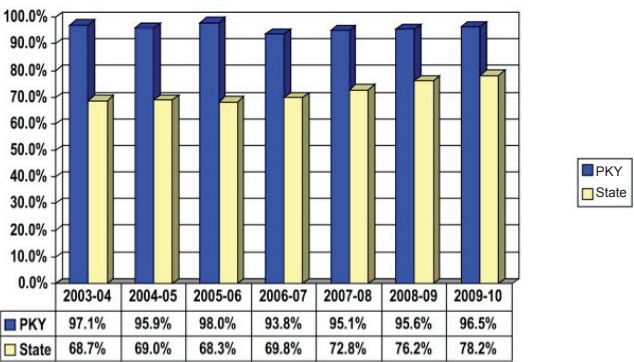

Despite the many transitions in leadership and state requirements in 2010-2011, our achievement outcomes reflected in this report demonstrate PK Yonge's continuing success in meeting challenging state standards. We are particularly proud of our accomplishments during the first administration of the Algebra I end-of-course assessment. Our high school graduation rate continues to exceed the state and national average.

When you drive up to the school this year it is evident that change is all around us. There is a new elementary building going up on the north bank of Tumblin' Creek. Even though architectural features will shift most immediately for our elementary students, K-12 teachers have been busy all summer creating 21st century approaches to teaching and learning. Together they are learning how to leverage the internet and on line learning communities to support their own work and student learning.

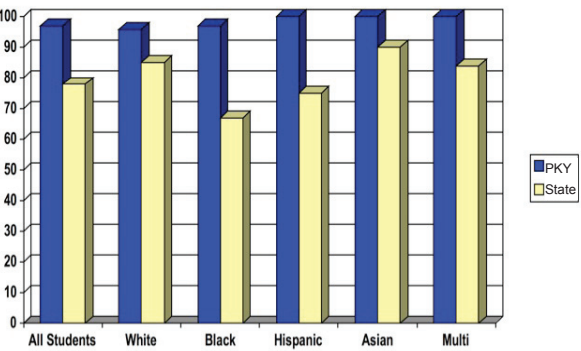

We are excited about the many changes you will see in our science classes this year as we seek to prepare all students for success on the new biology end-of-course assessment. While new tests present new challenges, we continue to focus on making science interesting and exciting for our students.

RAISING EXPECTATIONS IN SCIENCE & MATH FOR THE FUTURE

The chart above shows our students’ performance on the Algebra 1 End-of-Course Assessment compared to Florida students and Alachua County students. Note our impressive scores. PK Yonge performance in the top third was exceeded by only one district in the state. The majority of PK Yonge 8th and 9th grade Algebra 1 students scored in the top third. This explains why the chart shows so little blue in the left two columns. Our students blew the test out of the water.

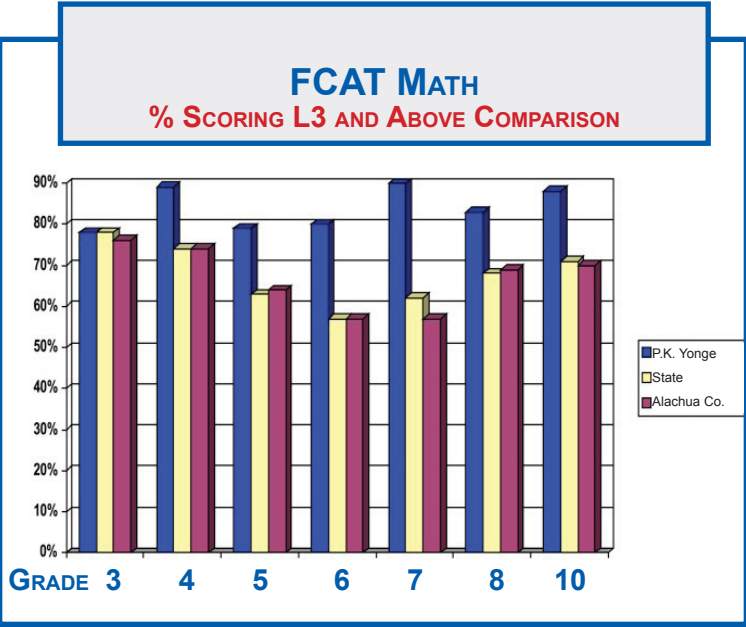

Science FCAT scores are trending up at PK Yonge. The chart above compares our students’ performance with the state and with Alachua County. We expect these scores to improve as our teachers have participated in extensive professional learning and curriculum development opportunities with EETT grant support.

At PK Yonge the expectation is that our students will attend a post-secondary institution. We prepare them for their next step whether it be college or career. Our students are expected to prepare for the 21st century workplace. Our graduates excel in top schools in the state and across the nation.

The chart above shows our math performance compared to the state and Alachua County. Our students continue to perform at high levels.

The chart above shows our FCAT reading performance compared to Florida and Alachua County. Our students performance is better across each grade. State comparisons are helpful but ultimately how our students perform in college or other pursuits is how we can measure our national performance. At P.K. Yonge we believe in teaching the whole child as a lifelong learner.
