Just a Note:

We had a wonderful time celebrating Halloween with all of our fun costumes. This week we finished up science and are excited to transition to social studies next week!

What we're learning:

Kindergarten: This week we worked on making text to self connections with the book Say Hello! We talked about how the characters were feeling and about times we have met a new friend. In Writing, we read I Love My Hair! We wrote stories about things we love about ourselves! In Math, we learned about solid (3D) shapes. We got to explore different shapes and observe different things about them!

First Grade: We read a story about a group of silly frogs and practiced retelling the story with partners. We reread some big books and poems to build our reading fluency. We learned the vocab words ordinary, extraordinary, accurate and inaccurate. For writing, we wrote stories about things that make us mad or sad and used speech bubbles in our illustrations. We finished our second math unit, and began adding three addends.
