Name: Jon Mundorf, Ed.D.

Grade/Subject: 8th Grade ELA

Workshop Titles & Description:

Uncommon Connections: The Power of a Superhero School-University Partnership with Dr. Shelby Boehm (Illinois State University)

What do a group of eighth graders at a K-12 school in Florida and undergraduate students at a public university have in common? More than you might expect. This presentation will offer insights into a partnership between ELA eighth graders and interdisciplinary undergraduate students reading a graphic novel.

Critical Student Conversations: Making Connections with Diverse Multimodal Texts with Ruth Lowry & Katherine Bomer (University of North Texas), Cheryl Logan (The Ohio State University), and Danling Fu & Deandra West (University of Florida)

This study presents how students in an eighth-grade English language Arts class engage in critical interpersonal meaning making of themselves and others through their reading of multilayered and multimodal diverse texts. The presenters illuminate how students are able to construct meaning through a variety of textual semiotic modes.
